

Message from the President of The Britannica Academy of eLearning

It is my extreme pleasure to introduce our different distinguished academic and professional programmes through our Near-East institute/offices in Jordan, Turkey, Palestine and others.

We have partnered with International institutions and universities which have strong reputations and accreditation; so that outstanding education and training could be delivered.

Our partners are:

- Westcliff University – California
- UCSI of Malaysia
- London College of Developmental Studies
- Association of Arab Universities
- Jordanian eUniversity
- And others.

It is our promise to facilitate the delivery of these programmes through our eLearning and eTraining Systems and experts.

The Britannica Academy of eLearning (BAL) has also allocated elites from academic and professional staff from different specialties to serve locally in the Near-East, (those who know the local Language and aware of cultural as well as traditional learning dimensions).

Welcome to our Academy and to our partner institutions and universities; we have made education and professional training simple and straight forward.

Prof Zire Kyle

President of the BAL
